The GAZETTE, OF THE State of South-Carolina.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1778. [No. 2105]

By His Excellency RAWLINS LOWNDES, Esq; President and Commander in Chief of the State of South-Carolina.

A PROCLAMATION.

WHereas in the Night of the 6th Instant, a most violent Riot was committed in Charles Town, and the good People thereof alarmed and disturbed with the firing of Cannon and small Arms, between the American Sailors and the Sailors of Foreign Nations, by which some Lives were lost, and several Persons wounded; to the great Scandal of Government and the Reproach of the Laws. And whereas in such a Scene of general Disorder and Confusion among the great Number of Persons collected together, it is difficult to ascertain and distinguish those who began, aided and promoted the Riot, from those who assembled for the laudable Purpose of preventing and opposing it, and maintaining the public peace. And whereas, from some Guns fired from the Wharf, one Person going on board the Ship Count de Narbonne, Capt. Bell, lying at the end of Burn's Wharf, was killed and another dangerously wounded, supposed to be done by some Person or Persons concealed on the said Wharf, behind a heap of Shingles lying there. In order to detect and bring to condign Punishment the Authors, Promoters, and Encouragers of this most daring and outrageous Behaviour; and to discover the Persons who actually fired the Guns from behind the Shingles, which killed and wounded two Persons going on board the said Ship; I have thought fit, by the Advice of the Honourable the Privy Council, to issue this my Proclamation, offering a Reward of One Thousand Pounds, to any Person or Persons (except the Party concerned) who will give Information against, and prosecute the Offenders guilty of the said Offences, or either of them. And I do charge and require all Magistrates and Peace Officers, and all other the good Citizens of this State, to be vigilant and active in suppressing and preventing all Riots, Disturbances, unlawful and tumultuous Meetings against the public Peace. And to discountenance and discourage, by all lawful Means in their Power, all indecent, illiberal, and national Reflections, against the subjects of his most Christian Majesty, our great and good Ally, as tending to excite Resentment and Ill will among those whom, by Interest, Treaty, and Alliance, we are bound to regard as Friends, and who are particularly intitled to our Favour and Protection.

Given under my Hand, and the Great Seal of the State of South Carolina aforesaid, at Charles-Town, this 8th Day of September, in the Year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and seventy eight.

RAWLINS LOWNDES.

By his Excellency's Command,
JOHN HUGER, Secretary.

State of South-Carolina.

In the GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
the 12th Day of September, 1778.

ORDERED,

THAT his Excellency the President's Message of the 8th Instant, and the Message of this House, of this Day, in Answer thereto, be forthwith printed in the Gazette of this State, and the several other News-papers.

PETER TIMOTHY, C.G.A.

MESSAGE from the PRESIDENT.

Mr. Speaker, and Gentlemen of the General Assembly,

TWO nights ago, a very great riot and disturbance happened in this town, which very much alarmed the inhabitants, and obliged the militia to be under arms a considerable part of the night. It proceeded from a quarrel amongst the sailors, where the resentment was carried to such a height, as to produce open hostilities and fight, with fire-arms; the French sailors from their vessels, and the American sailors, and others, from the shore: The loss of several lives was the consequence, and many are wounded. I recommend, Gentlemen, to you, to form some regulations, which may prevent these abuses, which threaten very fatal consequences; and, that some means may be adopted, to prevent that illiberal and national abuse, which too often is used towards foreign nations by our sailors, and which naturally excites resentment and ill-blood, and, in its consequences terminates in riot [illegible] disturbance.

8th Sept. 1778. RAWLINS LOWNDES.

MESSAGE to the PRESIDENT.

In the GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
the 12th Day of September, 1778.

May it please your Excellency,

IN answer to your Excellency's message of the 8th instant, relative to the riot in the evening of Sunday last; the House inform your Excellency, that they have appointed a Committee, to revise the laws relative to seamen in the port of Charlestown, and to consider of ways and means to suppress riots in the said town, and doubt not, that such measures will be adopted, as shall secure peace and good order in future. They cannot but express the great concern with which they are affected, that the slightest dissentions or animosities should prevail, between any citizen of America and the subjects of our great and illustrious ally; and are confident, that no step will be left unessayed, by your Excellency, to obtain the most complete intelligence, as to the first movers in the riot, by ordering a full examination to be taken, from people of every country, who may possibly throw a light upon the inquiry; and that your Excellency will ultimately be enabled, to bring such persons to justice, as shall appear deserving of punishment. And we assure your Excellency, we will make ample provision, for any expences that may be incurred in such investigation, and for any rewards that your Excellency has already offered, or may find necessary further to offer, on the Occasion.

By Order of the House,
THOMAS BEE, Speaker.

FACTORAGE BUSINESS,

which will commence the first day of October next, and whatever produce they may please to put into their hands will be carefully attended to, as they mean to apply themselves wholly to that branch of business.—— By the above time they hope to get into that large and commodious store late Commodore Gillon's, in Broad Street, near the Exchange, which is intended to be tiled, and other ways made as secure from fire as possible.

SIMS WHITE,
WILLIAM DOUGHTY.

CHARLES-TOWN, Sept. 16

ON Wednesday the 3d of June last, the King of Great-Britain delivered the following speech, to both Houses of Parliament:

My Lords and Gentlemen,

AFTER so long and laborious an application to the publick business, I think it proper, at this season of the year, to give you some recess. I come at the same time to return you my particular thanks for the zeal you have shewn in supporting the honour of my crown, and for your attention to the real interests of all my subjects, in the wise, just and humane laws, which have been the result of your deliberations, and which I hope, will be attended with the most salutary effects, in every part of the British empire.

My desire to preserve the tranquility of Europe has been uniform and sincere; and I reflect with great satisfaction, that I have made the faith of treaties and the law of nations the rule of my conduct, and that it has been my constant care to give no just cause of offence to any foreign power; let that power by whom this tranquility shall be disturbed answer to their subjects and to the world, for all the fatal consequences of war. The vigour and firmness of my Parliament have enabled me to be prepared for such events and emergencies as may happen; and I trust, that the experienced valour and discipline of my fleets and armies, and the loyal and united ardour of the nation, armed and animated in the defence of every thing that is dear to them, will be able under the protection of divine providence, to defeat all the enterprizes which the enemies of my crown may presume to undertake, and convince them how dangerous it is to provoke the spirit and strength of Great Britain.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the cheerfulness with which you have granted the large and ample supplies for the service of the current year, and for your care in raising them in a manner the most effectual and the least burthensome; and my warmest acknowledgments are due to you for the provision you have enabled me to make for the more honourable support of my Family.

My Lords and Gentlemen,

Your presence in your respective counties may at this time be of great public advantage. It is unnecessary for me to recommend to you to do your duties in your several stations: On my part, I have no other wish or object but to deserve the confidence of my parliament, and the affections of my people.

Then the Lord Chancellor by his majesty's command said;

My Lords and Gentlemen,

It is his Majesty's royal will and pleasure, that this parliament be prorogued to Tuesday the fourteenth day of July next, to be then here holden; and this Parliament is accordingly prorogued to Tuesday, the 14th day of July next.

The Speaker of the House of Commons addressed the same King, in the House of Peers, in substance as follows:

"That at this time of public alarm, his faithful Commons were happy to find he had called out the constitutional force of the kingdom for its defence; that they hoped he would in consequence be enabled to employ his other forces on essential services without the realm; that as they had liberally granted supplies [not less than 14 millions] to the fullest wishes of his servants, they trusted he would make such use of the money as was most likely to preserve the honour and dignity of his crown, and promote the welfare and interests of his dominions; finally, that they "heartily wished "for a speedy return of the Americans" to their allegiance, and did not doubt but, in due time, he would be able to chastize and repress the insolence of his natural enemies."

GEORGE COOKE.

AN OVERSEER, whose character will bear a minute enquiry, and who thoroughly understand the culture and making of indico as well as rice, would be glad to meet with advantageous business: A plantation whereon are a tolerable large number of hands would be preferred, as he hopes by his industry and diligence to merit good encouragement, without which he will not engage.——Any person inclined to favour him with their employ, will please to direct to T. B. to be left at the printing office, mentioning the proposals.

N. B. The advertiser has no family, and would enter on a plantation any time before January, but if not engaged by the 1st of November, he will by that time be otherwise suited.

CHARLES-TOWN, Sept. 9.

BY an account published in New-York the 5th of Auguſt, the loſs ſuſtained by the fire in that city on the 3d, is not ſo great as was at firſt repreſented. It broke out at the houſe of Mr. Stuart, at Cruger's dock; conſumed all the houſes on the Eaſt, South, and Weſt end of the wharf, every houſe on the South, and all (except 5) on the North ſide of Little Dock-ſtreet, at the Weſt End, and every houſe to the Eaſt of Mr. Iſaac Low's, as far as the Old Slip, and three oppoſite the ſlip; in all 64 dwelling-houſes, beſides ſtores, &c. The day following, a magazine of gunpowder, on board an ordnance ſloop, called the Morning-ſtar, in the Eaſt river, was blown up by lightning.

The laſt accounts of the expedition againſt Rhode-Iſland are quite favourable. The Count d'Eſtaing ſailed from Sandy Hook the 22d of July in the Evening, and arrived off Newport the 29th, to co-operate in the reduction of that iſland with General Sullivan, to whom Col. John Laurens (our countryman) one of General Waſhington's aids, had been ſent with the plan, and who reached Providence in 48 hours from head quarters. Upon the appearance of the Count d'Eſtaing's fleet, three regiments of Heſſians were immediately removed from Conanicut Iſland, and the King Fiſher ſloop of war with two row gallies, burnt, to prevent their falling into his hands. On the 9th, upon the Count's going up the river, after having ſilenced two batteries, the enemy abandoned all their works on the North end of Rhode Iſland; and General Sullivan immediately croſſed with his army, from the main, and took poſſeſſion of them. The ſame day 29 veſſels under Engliſh colours appeared off Newport; the Count purſued and was in ſight of them the next day. The Britiſh fleet was ſaid to have ſailed from Sandy Hook on the 6th. And it was expected a general attack would be made on Newport on the 10th. General Hancock (late Preſident of Congreſs) had joined General Sullivan with a corps of volunteers.

On the very day that the Parliament of Great-Britain was prorogued (June 3) the King appointed Lord North to be Lord Warden and Admiral of the Cinque Ports. The ſame day Edward Thurloe, Eſq; took his ſeat in the Houſe of Peers, by the title of Lord Thurloe, Baron Aſhfield; and after the prorogation, Earl Bathurſt reſigned the ſeals to the King, who immediately preſented them to Lord Thurloe, as Lord Chancellor of Great-Britain. About the ſame time the famous Alexander Wedderburn, Eſq; was appointed Attorney General, and James Wallace, Eſq; Solicitor General. And on the 4th, the Earl of Rochfort and Lord Weymouth were elected and veſted with the enſigns of the order of the Garter.

In the parliamentary debates the beginning of June the following particulars appear, viz.——That the day after General Burgoyne's arrival in England, a board of General Officers had been called to enquire into the Saratoga affair; but they refuſed to take cognizance of it.— That the General had been denied admittance to the King's preſence: But, he had ſtated his whole conduct to parliament. That on June 2, he wiſhed the miniſter would inform the houſe, "what "ſteps had been taken to recover an army, that he "would venture to ſay, from their training and diſ-"cipline, were, without any diſparagement to other "troops, worth double the number of any other men "in the ſervice?" The miniſter replied, he could not directly anſwer, as thoſe ſteps were not fully carried into execution; but he believed it was the intention of Congreſs to evade the Convention, as appeared to him from their words, "ratified by the "COURT of Great Britain." And that on laſt St. Andrew's day, the Friends of government in New York, had thrown down the Statues of Lords Chatham and Camden in that city, ſuppoſing it the higheſt compliment they could pay the crown.

A gentleman at Liverpool writes to his friend in Antigua, under date of June 26, "That he hopes ſoon to have a good account of the Toulon fleet, as Lord Howe had intelligence of and a ſufficient force to oppoſe him, 23 ſail of the line, having gone from England, which ſailed ſingle ſhips, under pretence of cruizing in the channel, but immediately to join him."

In the mean time, we are informed, by a veſſel yeſterday (in 15 days) from St. Euſtatius, and by letters, that the French declaration of war againſt Great Britain had been proclaimed at Martinique and Guadaloupe the 15th of laſt month, and a frigate diſpatched to the Cape, likewiſe to proclaim it there. The letters add, that while the Britiſh Iſlands are almoſt deſtitute of Proviſions, thoſe of the French now abound in all ſorts.

We have ſome grounds to believe, that Governor Tonyn of Eaſt Florida, has been much deceived, by aſſurances from Sir Henry Clinton, ("that by this time, Georgia and this ſtate would experience all "the horrors of war, from a force ſent by him, "joined with ſavages and tories,") as his excellency has duped thoſe unhappy people that have been ſeduced to quit their peaceful habitations on our frontiers to wear ſoldiers cloathing for the remainder of their lives— for, by the unexpected arrival of the Count d'Eſtaign in America, Sir Henry is obliged to employ the Britiſh otherwiſe than he perhaps intended; the ſavages in all probability will get a good drub bin; and the Tories are ſo diſconcerted on every ſide, by a diſcovery of their vile plots, that moſt of thoſe who have quitted theſe ſtates, look back to them with unavailing regret.

We hear that John Stuart, Eſq; has lately ſent 500 ſcalpers to Eaſt Florida, two hundred of which went to St. Auguſtine and St. John's headed by Mr. Richard Pearis and Mr. Alexander Cameron, the reſt had taken the route of the Alatamaha—— that thoſe at St. Auguſtine, arrived there the 25th of Auguſt, had their grand talk the 29th, and their war dance on the 30th and that they purpoſed to ſpare no man, woman or child, that ſhould be left alive by the Britiſh troops. —The infernal villains who have lately committed the moſt horrid outrages about Orangeburg, were to have had a ſhare in this buſineſs; but ſuch meaſures have been taken within a few days paſt, that 'tis to be hoped their reign will be very ſhort.

Laſt night arrived here Capt. Turpin, in the ſhip Verſailles, from Bourdeaux. About a fortnight before his arrival, he met with an Engliſh Frigate or armed ſhip, of 28 guns, called the Nabob, who ſearched and kept poſſeſſion of his veſſel 24 hours, and then diſcharged her, being cleared for Newfoundland.

GAMBLE and FERGUSON,

Beg leave to inform the Public,

THAT they continue to carry on the Factorage Business (at the usual commissions) for the sale of the country produce; and as they have the charge of General Gadsden's Wharf, and all his stores, they flatter themselves, from the abundance of shipping, when trade is brisk, and the convenience of storage, when it is not, that they are possessed of every requisite for managing their business for the advantage of their employers.——They appeal to the candour of those gentlemen who favoured them with the sale of their crops last season, whether they have not settled and paid them for all, two months ago, except one account, under three hundred pounds, not called for.

N. B. They have for sale good new rice, by the single barrel (for cash only) below the market price.

The non-exportation of provisions (for there has not been a barrel smuggled from Gadsden's wharf, has obliged us to purchase a considerable quantity of rice, as well to keep our boat employed, as to retail it by single barrels.
